1. Purpose of Guidelines

Ecotourism is responsible travel to natural areas that conserves the environment and sustains the well-being of the local people. It can be done with the naked eye, through a visual enhancement device like binoculars and telescopes or by listening to sounds. Most Tourists pursue this activity for recreational or social reasons rather than doing an organized activity using formal scientific methods. However, Guides requires a minimum amount of training for accurate identification of flora, fauna and ecology. Further, because of the remoteness of ecotourism sites in the islands, there is basic requirement of training required to tackle emergency situation.

This guideline has been adapted from “India Adventure Tourism Guideline” issued by Ministry of Tourism which puts onus of registration of service providers on the state/UT Administration. It is also understood that there are scope of improvement in equipment/SOP because of technological improvement and experience of operation of activity in the island. Hence, Nodal department has been given flexibility to prescribe as per the available information for constantly improving the standard of safety.

Guideline is also in coherence with “Ecotourism Policy-2015”, “Tourism Policy 2010” and principles of “Ease off doing business” which envisages encouraging Self-Regulation and established a simple system for operation of the activity. The broader aspects of the guidelines are as follows:-

- To promote A & N Islands as a Ecotourist destination in the National & International Market.
- To establish an open, transparent and safe framework development of Ecotourism activities in A & N Islands.
- To establish a simple system for registration/renewal/information submission for Ecotourism Operators functioning in the island.
- To consolidate directions issued by various Departments of Andaman and Nicobar Administration and Ministries of Govt. of India for defining the principles for operation for Operators in the islands.
- To ensure that Operators sensitize the tourists to protect the ecosystems.
- To encourage self-regulation by operators.
- To ensure Operatorshire qualified manpower and use quality equipment/vehicles for their operation.
- To ensure all Tourists are made aware of all attractions/facilities/service providers/risks involved for taking informed decision before doing all activities in islands.
- To streamline Administration of the Operators by clearly mentioning timelines of all administrative action.
